by Yasmina Reza
(translated by Christopher Hampton)

Three actors. One painting.
One big argument brewing!
One hell of a comedy!

"The three guys play someplace between the elegance of The Three Tenors and the slapstick of The Three Stooges."

*"If you haven't seen it yet, I envy you the discovery.
And if you have seen it before...I envy you the re-discovery!"*

Award-winning Art premiered in Paris in 1995.
Since then it has been produced worldwide and translated and performed in over thirty languages.

Serge has bought a modern painting for a huge sum of money. Marc hates it and cannot believe that a friend of his could possibly want such a ghastly work. Yvan attempts, unsuccessfully, to placate both sides while struggling with the plans for his wedding. The comedy is less about art; more about friendship tested to its absolute limit.

Serge is played by Brian Paterson, Yvan by Craig Murray and Marc by Alan Clark.
